

October/November 2027: Pantanal Expedition

25 October – 02 November 2027

A unique exploratory expedition aboard a luxury riverboat into the depths of Jaguarland, the beating heart of the Pantanal, home to the world's largest Jaguar population. Exploring the region's waterways, shrouded in dense forest, in search of wildlife will be the goal of our adventure. In particular, we will look for Jaguars, Giant otters, and Ocelots, which live here, along with other large mammals such as primates, the Hooded capuchin and Black howler, Capybara, Giant and Lesser anteaters, Brocket deer and Pampas deer, Tapirs, and Armadillos, as well as a huge variety of colorful birds, including the Macaws. This is an exclusive trip for our group of up to 10 people, with special attention to comfort.

PROGRAM

25 October

Arrival at Cuiabá.

Overnight at Hotel Amazon Airport or similar*.

26 October

Early this morning, we'll drive the famous Transpantaneira Highway to the Pantanal. Our lodge is located just 2.5 kilometers from the road, on the forested banks of the Pixaim River, rich in wildlife. This lodge is unlike any other in the Pantanal and boasts some real gems. It's the best place in the world to photograph Toco Toucans, it's home to the only Jabiru stork nest in the world that can be observed up close, and finally, the highlight is the unique opportunity to spot wild Ocelots up close. After lunch, we'll embark on an excursion that will allow us to admire the world's greatest variety of animal species, including Kingfishers (all five South American species), Falcons, Caimans, Capybaras, Agami herons, Jabiru storks, and, if we're lucky, even Jaguars.

After dinner, we'll set out in search of the elusive Ocelot.

Overnight at Lodge.

27 October

In the morning, we'll travel further south to Porto Jofre, where we'll continue by boat to Jaguarland, the Pantanal region with the highest Jaguar density in the world. Between July and November, during the dry season, Jaguars approach the rivers, making this an ideal spot for boat safaris.

We'll spend the next few days aboard the Naturezas riverboat, a luxurious houseboat chartered for our group of up to 10 people, designed exclusively for wildlife observation in the Pantanal.

Designed for jaguar-focused expeditions, the 26-meter vessel offers five panoramic suites, a restaurant with 360° views, and an open upper deck equipped with a sky bar for spotting.

In the afternoon, we'll depart for our first small boat excursion in search of Jaguars.

Overnight onboard.

28 - 30 October

Days entirely dedicated to discovering the Pantanal and its inhabitants, with two safaris aboard small boats planned each day.

Rare and endangered mammals such as the Jaguar and Giant otter find refuge here, along with other large mammals such as Primates, the Hooded capuchin and Black howler, Capybara, Giant and Lesser anteater, Brocket deer and Pampas deer, Tapir, and Armadillo. Birdwatching in the Pantanal is also an unmissable experience; the extraordinary variety and beauty of the region's birds is incredible. Hyacinth macaws, the world's largest parrots, are just one example.

Some sources claim that the Pantanal has the highest concentration of fauna in the New World. Overnight onboard.

31 October

In the morning, we'll leave our boat and return to the lodge where we spent our first night in the Pantanal.

After lunch and in the evening, two safaris are planned to explore the spectacular local wildlife. Overnight at Lodge.

01 November

Transfer to Cuiabá.

Overnight at Hotel Amazon Airport or similar*.

02 November

Flight home.

* This is a real expedition in poorly explored areas so the program could be carried out differently due to weather conditions or animal sightings; it is essential to be flexible.

POST TOUR EXTENSION

November 2027 – Encounter with the Scarlet macaws and Giant anteaters

01 - 04 November 2027

A special and exclusive departure for our group, maximum 10 people. The destination is a highly prized wilderness area on the southern edge of the Pantanal, offering two unique natural spectacles: the Macaw Canyon and the extraordinary abundance of Giant anteaters. Both animals can be observed up close and on multiple occasions.

PROGRAM

01 November

Transfer to Cuiabá and evening flight to Campo Grande.

Overnight at Hotel Deville Prime Campo Grande or similar*.

02 November

After breakfast, we'll travel on a paved road from Campo Grande to Bonito.

In the afternoon, we can relax, take a siesta, or simply enjoy a swim in the enchanting pool.

In the late afternoon, when the animals are more active, we'll visit some grassy land, hilly pastures surrounded by woods, the ideal habitat to search for and find our main objective: the magnificent Giant anteater. In this area, it's possible to observe them at close range. These bizarre, 50-kilogram creatures are among the strangest and most beautiful animals on the planet.

Overnight at Pousada Olho d'Águas or similarsup.

03 November

In the morning, we'll visit the incredible Macaw Canyon, a spectacle like no other. We'll find pairs and flocks of 20-30 Green and Scarlet macaws awaiting us, flying at eye level and below us as we stand on the edge of a limestone canyon about a hundred meters deep. A unique opportunity to photograph these large parrots in flight from above.

In the late afternoon, we'll head back to the pastures in search of the extraordinary Giant anteaters.
